Little Pillow's Journey

Little Pillow is now called "Lily" and loves her Forever Home! When brought into rescue by CPR volunteers, she could not use her rear legs. Several theories existed, but no diagnosis of her problem. Swimming and other physical therapy was tried with little success, and she got around on her little wheelchair. But time, love, and patience have shown great results. In the words of her adoptive Mom, "she is adorable, funny, energetic, lovable, smart and so sweet. Her little wheelchair is in the closet for good. She still has problems on tile but it doesn't really slow her down – she just scoots right along using her front legs! I can barely keep up with her these days."
